

Internship Certificate

This is certify to Bai Zehui, from Tianjin University, School of Chemical Engineering and Technology, majored in Biological Engineering, started his internship on 28.06.2017 and ended on 20.09.2017.

During the internship, the student engaged engaged in biological wastewater treatment, including the use of microbial technology to treat waste water, separation of impurities in the downstream, skilled use of bio-industrial equipment, and bacterial culture.

During the student's internship, under the guidance of our company's staffs, he got a preliminary understanding of conducting investigation into investment project, and was familiar with the project assessment system, as well as the details and standards involved in the process. In addition, he put all his passion and effort into his work. The student tried to find out every problem he encountered and never hesitated to ask senior coworkers for help. He got along very well with others, which in turn proved his team spirit and excellent skills of communication. Also, he was willing to take suggestions from others, and he could work overtime to ensure his work is fulfilled before due. His diligence, attitude and cooperation left all his coworkers and our company a very good impression. Now the student in my company has already concluded, this is to certify that.
